

Touchpoints

Multi channel Customer Service

Creating a great first impression with customers can be the difference between a single sale and a long-term relationship. Whether it is online, over the phone, or in-store, Robert can help your teams integrate customer service across every medium. He will help you create a consistently high quality customer experience across all touch-points.

